BOMA DETROIT'S NEWLY FORMED YOUNG PROFESSIONALS GROUP ATTRACTS LOCAL REAL ESTATE PROFESSIONALS

FARMINGTON HILLS, Mich., June 19, 2009 – The Building Owners and Managers

Association of Metropolitan Detroit (BOMA) has launched a new and exciting Young Professionals Group, aimed at attracting young real estate professionals in the local Detroit market. The group has now had two successful networking events.

“Our goal is to bring young commercial real estate professionals, under 40, together in a comfortable environment of peers to provide career, personal, and leadership development opportunities,” according to Paul Kerby, Graebel Michigan Movers, and Brandon Pomish, PCI Industries, Inc., cofounders of the group. The informal get-togethers focus on a comfortable atmosphere with peers, accented with industry-related conversation. The group is looking for Young Professionals to help shape the future of this dynamic new group. Accessible by social networking site Facebook and soon to be on LinkedIn, the group is open to young professionals in the commercial real estate industry who want to further their careers, meet new contacts, make new friends, advance the cause, and have some fun, too.

Not a “young professional?” Not a problem. Pass this along to a rising star in your office, and encourage them to participate and become involved in their community, both professionally and personally. Membership in BOMA is not required, just a passion for advancing the cause of investing in the interests of the local commercial real estate industry in southeast Michigan.

For more information on this exciting new group, and all that it has to offer, visit the BOMA of Metro Detroit Young Professionals Group on Facebook or visit the BOMA of Metro Detroit website at www.bomadet.org. You may also contact Emily Keranen at the BOMA office at 248-848-3714 for additional information.
