The Community Affairs team is working with Wrench Detroit to build and provide bicycles for children in Detroit neighborhoods. We would like to invite BOMA members and their extended staff to participate by sponsoring a bike, or lock. You also have the opportunity to build the bikes at the Southfield Town Center on Thursday, March 19th. We hope you will join us in our community works this year!

About Wrench Detroit

Soon after acquiring her artist workspace on Vermont in Detroit, founding member Jean Wilson was approached by a group of neighborhood kids asking if she could fix their bikes. They led her to a tangled pile of rusted bikes and a mission was born: to repair and provide bikes to children who, otherwise, would not have the means to own one.

Wrench has provided more than 1,000 free bikes to area kids and repaired hundreds more. Wrench Detroit currently operates in four Detroit neighborhoods, periodically returning to keep those bikes in good repair.

Detroit is a rising bike culture city and we want to share that with every child in need.
